

The only way to fly.

Let Cannon Mountain's Aerial Tramway take you to new heights. Each tram is designed to carry up to 80 passengers on a smooth, seven-minute ride to the summit. From there, the view is nothing short of spectacular. The Franconia and Kinsman Ranges form the skyline, and the natural beauty of Franconia Notch—with miles and miles of unspoiled wilderness—appears like a plush carpet below.

Take it from the top.

While at the top of Cannon Mountain, you can have lunch and savor the scenery from the Summit Lodge, or enjoy a picnic out in the fresh air among the many alpine flowers. Then hike along Cannon Mountain's Rim Trail, and take the Tram back down the mountain. How you spend your day at Cannon Mountain is entirely up to you.

Services

A new gift shop is located in the Aerial Tramway Base Station, and there's a new accessories shop located in the Summit Lodge. Cafeterias can be found in both the Aerial Tramway Base Station and the Summit Lodge. While at Cannon Mountain, be sure to visit the New England Ski Museum adjacent to the Aerial Tramway Base Station for a unique presentation of the history of skiing.

The Cannon Combo Pass. There's so much to see and do at Cannon Mountain that we've put together some of the most popular activities in a "pay-one-price" package. A Cannon Combo Pass gets you a round-trip Aerial Tramway Ride, admission to Echo Lake Beach, and a visit to the renowned Flume, a natural gorge with perpendicular walls of solid granite 12 to 20 feet apart and rising some 90 feet straight up. This 800-foot-long chasm was carved by nature and the rushing waters of the Pemigewasset River long before the Ice Age. The Flume's boardwalks give you close-up views of rare mountain flowers, and there are walking trails through covered bridges and over waterfalls and pools. A free interpretive movie is shown every half hour in the Flume Visitor Center. While you're enjoying all the activities included in the Cannon Combo pass, the Old Man of the Mountain is watching over you to make sure you're having a good time.
