

Mount Washington Cog Railway, Bretton Woods, NH

A ride up Mount Washington on the world's first mountain-climbing cog railway remains, as it has for well over a century, an exciting and unforgettable experience. The ever-changing surroundings, the magnificent views, the sights and sounds of unique steam locomotives in action, and some of the steepest railroad tracks in existence, combine to place it among the best of the world's great railway journeys. This is a trip that must be made to be fully appreciated!

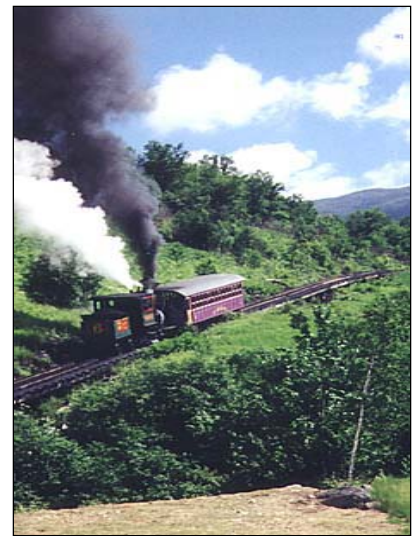

In 1869, the Cog Railway was an engineering marvel, a new technology of toothed cog gears, rack rails and tilted boilers. Today, when you ride the train you get a rare look at this world gone by, where coal fired dreams and steel rails mapped the course of civilization.

Spend The Day With Us

Plan on spending a day with the Cog Railway. There's a fascinating museum with displays and presentations, a large gift shop and restaurant at the base. On the summit, you can visit New Hampshire's unique mile-high state park, including the Sherman Adams Observation Center.

The Cog Railway is set in the midst of the White Mountain National Forest with its natural and man-made attractions. It may well be the most unique vacation experience in all New England.

The round trip cog ride takes approximately three hours, including a 20-minute stop at the summit. Please check our operating schedule for departure times. We recommend that you bring a camera and extra jacket or sweater. Remember, trains are fired by coal -- so dress accordingly.

Reservations are strongly recommended. Call 603-278-5404 for advance ticket purchases and reservations.
